

The Great July Unloading Sale

still offers wide selection from thousands of dollars' worth of high-grade Kaufmann merchandise at prices far below regular.

Two "nuggets of economy" from our basement to-day:

75c Bungalow Aprons, 50c

A Little Lot of Thirty.

This Apron is enveloping style. It can be worn without a dress. It's of wash materials—Percalé, Gingham and Chambray—in plain colors and figures, with pipings of contrasting colors.

$1.50 House and Porch Dresses, $1.00.

These are better than usual $1.50 dresses, at only $1.00; in all sizes from 34 to 44.

Basement.

Store Closes
6 P. M.
Sat., 6 P. M.

Kaufmann & Co.
Corner Fourth and Broad Streets.

The Store of To-Day and To-Morrow.

Social and Personal

Fashionable society has been scattering for the heated term very rapidly during the past few days, and the mountain resorts, the cottages by the sea are fast filling up for the season. The Greenbrier Hotel at Hot Springs is one of the most noted resorts in the South, and a large contingent of Richmond people spend a portion, at least, of every summer there. John P. Branch and Miss Edith Branch are now occupying their cottage at the White, where they expect to remain until late in the autumn, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Atkinson are also among the Richmond people there. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer L. Carter, of Baltimore, have joined the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson, at the White for a month's stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton and their daughter, Miss Sarah Hamilton, have also gone to the White Sulphur for an extended stay, before returning to their home in Petersburg.

In Amelia.

Miss Elizabeth Munford and her sister, Miss Norvell Munford, left yesterday for Amelia Courthouse, where they will spend the next ten days as the guests of friends. Upon their return some time later in the month they will join their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Munford, in a trip to California and other places of interest through the West.

Charity Carnival.

Society that has remained in town is much interested in the midsummer carnival that is to take place this evening on the south side of the 1900 block of Hanover Avenue. It is to be held for the Ice Mission, and the patronesses for the affair include Mrs. C. F. Cole, Mrs. G. R. Williams, Mrs. E. W. Stearnes, Mrs. H. H. Wallis, Mrs. Ellish Baker, Jr., Mrs. Frank Cunningham, Mrs. W. W. Hardwick, Mrs. S. R. Hughes, Mrs. A. L. Thomas, Mrs. A. R. Gunn, Mrs. J. F. Denty, Mrs. G. E. Vandercell and Mrs. James P. Thomas. This will be a perch carnival, and attractions of all sorts and kinds have been arranged for each veranda. Decorations are to be in bright colored lanterns and summer flowers, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Guests of Relatives.

Mrs. Charles W. Kitterman, of Washington, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. D. T. Yancey, at her home at the Garland Hotel, in South Boston. Mrs. Yancey has also had as her guest recently her cousin, Miss Jane Wilkins, of Lynchburg. Miss Wilkins spent several weeks visiting in South Boston.

On Camping Party.

Miss Cornelia McGill, of Richmond, left Tuesday for Montreal, N. C., where she will join a camping party for several weeks, before returning to her home here. Miss McGill has been the guest of Miss Helen Becker in Roanoke for the month of June, and a great many delightful affairs were given in her honor during her visit to that city.

Stay-at-Home Whist Club.

The Stay-at-Home Whist Club met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. C. Lamb, on West Grace Street. The highest score was made by Mrs. Lamb and Admiral Harrie Webster. The club will be entertained, as usual, on next Monday evening, and the meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. C. W. P. Brock, 208 East Franklin Street.

Wheatley-Boase.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mumford Boase announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise, to Benjamin Pierce Wheatley, the ceremony having taken place

Monday, July 7, in Washington, the Rev. William L. McKinney, D. D., officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley are spending some time in the mountains of Virginia, and will be at home to their friends after July 15, at 1816 Enlow Avenue, Highland Park.

Marriage Announced.

Cards have been received in Richmond from Mrs. Blanche Alexander Kirby, of Pittsburgh, Pa., announcing the marriage of her daughter, Grace Fielding, and Walter Edward Dineen, Jr., of Alexandria, on Wednesday, July 3. Mr. and Mrs. Dineen will be at home after August 1 in Alexandria.

In the North.

Mrs. C. J. Lightly, of Martinsville, and Miss Elizabeth Mosby, of this city, left Richmond last Thursday to spend some time in the North. They will go to a house at Chautauque, N. Y., where they will take the summer course in music.

Returned to Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and their children, Elizabeth and John, have returned to their home on Park Avenue, after a stay of several weeks with friends at Virginia Beach. Mrs. Taylor's sister, Mrs. Turner, of Arlington, and her children have also been at Virginia Beach for some time.

Miss Jamie Gaines, who has been the guest of Mrs. Walter Sydney, in Ashland, has returned to her home in this city.

In and Out of Town.

Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Chamberlayne have returned to Richmond, after a short stay abroad.

Hunter Mann, who has been the guest of Governor and Mrs. William Hodges Mann in the Executive Mansion, is now attending a house party near Bristol, Tenn.

Mrs. Jack Temple will leave town this week to spend some time at Virginia Beach.

Miss Peachey Tolley, of Dayton, O., is visiting Miss Inez Merrydew at her home on East Marshall Street.

Mrs. James Upshur Dennis and Miss Dora L. Dennis are now at Cape May, N. J., after a visit to relatives in Virginia.

Boyd Todd will leave shortly for Bowling Green, where he will be the guest of relatives for a few days.

Miss Eunice Ashburner, of Lynchburg, will spend the summer at Lynchburg, where she has been visiting friends in Bon Air, will spend Thursday in Richmond with Mr. and Mrs. Haskins Hobson at Forest Hill.

Misses Elizabeth and Belle Willard are spending some time at the Virginia Hot Springs.

Mrs. Cunningham Hall, of Westhampton, is spending several weeks at Virginia Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Walford, of this city, have taken a cottage in Ashland for the months of July and August.

Henry MacIn, superintendent of the schools of Greenesville County, who was brought to St. Luke's Hospital here for treatment on Saturday, is now greatly improved.

Misses Elizabeth Fox, Catherine Slason and Mable Nelland have returned to the city, after a ten days' stay at Ocean View and Virginia Beach.

Mrs. Thomas Adkins and her daughter, Miss Maria Adkins, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Luce at their country place near New York City.

Misses Attie and Elizabeth Garlick will leave this week to spend some time with relatives at Virginia Beach.

Miss Mary Foster will return to "Glenview" this week, after attending a house party in Essex County.

Mrs. F. W. Agnew has returned to her home in Heaver, Pa., after spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Mann, on Park Avenue.

Mrs. Peyton C. Johnson, of Lynchburg, is the guest of relatives in this city.

G. Watson James has gone to Basic City, where he expects to spend the remainder of the summer with friends.

Misses Virginia and Eliza Holt and Mary Braxton have returned to Staunton, after a visit to relatives here.

Miss Nell Snyder, of this city, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Blanton at their home in Newport News.

Miss Annie Louise Reinhardt is a guest of Mrs. W. H. Gardner in Basic City.

L. P. Frayser, of this city, is registered at the Tu Ku cottage at Virginia Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Loving are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Patrick, in Danville.

Mrs. L. L. Scherer and her two sons are spending several weeks with relatives near Staunton.

Miss Fannie Horne, who has been visiting in Fredericksburg, returned to Richmond on Monday.

Miss Louise Preston, of Abingdon, is spending some time with friends in this city.

Mrs. C. L. Walford, of Danville, is the guest of friends here, before going to Orons and Amelia.

NORTH CAROLINA BANKERS MEETING

Many Virginians Are Guests of Sister State's Financial Men.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Asheville, N. C., July 8.—The convention of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, which is being held in this city, is featured by the large number of visitors present representing other State organizations. Among those who are in attendance upon the seven-day annual gathering are J. M. Hurt, president of the Virginia Bankers' Association; V. Value, the chairman of the agricultural committee of the same organization; Julian Hill, of Richmond, treasurer of the Virginia association, and C. R. Burnett, of Richmond, in addition to the officials of the Virginia Bankers' Association, numerous other Virginians are here for the annual meeting of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, and other State organizations are well represented.

The opening session of the convention was held to-night, and following the first meeting of the annual gathering of the bankers, their wives and members of their families were the guests of the Asheville bankers at an elaborate banquet and reception, which was held in the ballroom of the Battery Park Hotel. The hotel was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and this feature of the convention was one which was thoroughly enjoyed.

At the opening meeting the address of welcome was delivered by Judge P. C. Cooke on behalf of the city, and L. C. Jenkins, on behalf of the bankers of this city. J. B. Ramsey, of Rocky Mount, responded to these addresses and his address was followed by the submission of the annual reports of the president and the secretary and treasurer.

Leake S. Covington, of Rockingham, is president of the organization, and A. C. Hunt, of Anderson, is secretary and treasurer.

Reports submitted to-day show that the organization has experienced a most successful year, twenty-two new members having been secured since the last annual meeting at Morehead City.

President Covington, in his address, pleaded for co-operation in working for the passage of a more satisfactory State banking law. He recommended that the bankers of the State co-operate with the farmers, offering prizes in contests, furnishing the best seed for their use and helping them in any way possible.

By English nurses, and after that by English governesses. His own children are being educated in the same fashion, their nurses being Scotch women. Nicholas II. of Russia and his consort were also brought up by English nurses, and few who were in St. Petersburg at the time they got how on a particularly wintery, snowstormy day in December, some twenty years ago, the late Alexander III., with his brothers, Vladimir, Alexis, Sergius and Paul, themselves carried the coffin of the English nurse who had cared for them, their children, from the house into the church at her funeral, after following it on foot through the streets of St. Petersburg; an honor never accorded to even the greatest dignitaries of the empire.

At Madrid the royal nurses are in charge of three Scotch nurses, and Queen Wilhelmine of Holland was brought up, first by Scotch nurses and then by an English governess of the name of Miss Winter.

These nurses enjoy so remarkable a preference in the royal nurseries of Europe, it is by reason of their sturdy independence of character, which helps to keep them clear of the petty intrigues of every monarchical household, and that also prevents them from spoiling their young charges by undue servility. But what is most highly prized in these Scotch nurses is their particularly musical voice; a quality which they impart to the youngsters committed to their care, and in this connection I would call attention to the fact that nurses from the Scottish Highlands are more sought after for their voices than those from the lowland districts of the northern kingdom.

These nurses, while their pay is not exaggerated, nevertheless are treated by their royal and imperial employers with marked consideration and regard. Queen Victoria, who was so austere, so authoritative and distant in her relations with her ministers and with the great dignitaries of the empire, of the court, would unbend altogether towards the nurses of her children and grandchildren, encouraging them to talk freely; while some of my readers may remember the little scene which occurred at the time the late Emperor of Austria fetched a chair across the lawn for the elderly English nurse who was carrying in her arms one of his young grandchildren, the offspring of his youngest daughter, Archduchess Valerie.

The Mayor of the great French arsenal and seaport town of Toulon has issued a municipal decree of a somewhat extraordinary character, prohibiting yawning in the leading streets there, under the penalty of arrest and arrest for "disorderly conduct." Apparently he does not take into consideration the fact that the dreariness of the performance may invite yawns.

He is, however, by no means alone in deriding yawning as "disorderly conduct." For the Hon. Henry Turley, Speaker of the Senate of the Australian Commonwealth, is reported to have recently called a brother Senator to order during a legislative session for "disorderly conduct" in "aggressively yawning."

It is lucky for the late Duke of Devonshire that he never was subjected to any such rulings when still in the House of Commons, at Westminster, as Lord Hartington. For he was wont to yawn throughout the deliberations when he was not actually sleeping, with his hat down over his eyes, and on several occasions actually stopped in the middle of his own speeches to yawn audibly. This was not at all affected, but the sluggishness of the Cavalier temperament, troubled with a pronounced distaste for politics, which bored him intensely, and to which he only gave his time from a sense of patriotic duty, since he had nothing whatsoever to gain thereby.

One of the most aggressive yawners it has ever been my lot to meet was the late Prince Jerome Napoleon (Pon-Pon), father of the present Bonapartist pretender. In his case it was not boredom, but liver, and it mattered not with whom he was conversing, whether it was a monarch, a great statesman, a grande dame, or a beautiful demimondaine, he would yawn about every two minutes, covering his mouth with his hand. Indeed, the only times when he did not yawn was when he was either eating, drinking, or asleep. It was very trying to talk to him, since there is nothing so contagious as yawning, and people who were not accustomed to him would be set off yawning themselves by sheer nervousness, which always irritated him, and which he seemed to regard as an impertinence.

"Rengo Belt" is the new Hygienic Corset, giving every line of latest fashion.

This is the first season in years that you can truly be in vogue and be corseted in perfect comfort.

"Rengo Belt" Corsets have made it possible to reduce the hips and have an even, slightly sloping figure from bust downward. The new Rengo Belt styles have simply equalized the waist, bust and hips, giving just a little more waist to the figure, and thus a great deal more comfort. The results are simply beautiful. Every medium and stout woman should try one of these famous models. All sizes, in general models, for $2.00, $3.00 and $5.00. Boned with double waist spring steel and Wahlen, and guaranteed not to rust. Let our Corsetiers fit you in one of the Rengo Belt models suitable to your figure, and thus procure corset comfort as well as a stylish figure.

VICTOR EMMANUEL NO GERMAN STUDENT

He Talks to the Kaiser Mostly in French and English.

BY LA MARQUESE DE FONTENAY.

VICTOR EMMANUEL of Italy, during his visit last week with his Queen to the Kaiser and his Queen at the German Imperial Palace in Berlin, carried on all his conversations with him either in French or in English, mostly the latter. For, although he was carefully taught German as a boy, he has forgotten it to such an extent that he no longer ventures to speak it, and admits that he cannot read it without the assistance of a dictionary. This is all the more surprising when it is borne in mind that his grandmother, the old Duchess of Genoa, was a German princess of the reigning house of Saxony, that she was intensely Teuton, and that her only daughter, Queen Marguerite, that is to say, the present King's mother, learned German before Italian, German being her first language.

That King Victor Emmanuel should speak English so well is due to the fact that, like most of the other rulers of Europe, he was brought up through his infancy and childhood by English or rather Scotch nurses, and after that by English governesses. His own children are being educated in the same fashion, their nurses being Scotch women. Nicholas II. of Russia and his consort were also brought up by English nurses, and few who were in St. Petersburg at the time they got how on a particularly wintery, snowstormy day in December, some twenty years ago, the late Alexander III., with his brothers, Vladimir, Alexis, Sergius and Paul, themselves carried the coffin of the English nurse who had cared for them, their children, from the house into the church at her funeral, after following it on foot through the streets of St. Petersburg; an honor never accorded to even the greatest dignitaries of the empire.

At Madrid the royal nurses are in charge of three Scotch nurses, and Queen Wilhelmine of Holland was brought up, first by Scotch nurses and then by an English governess of the name of Miss Winter.

These nurses enjoy so remarkable a preference in the royal nurseries of Europe, it is by reason of their sturdy independence of character, which helps to keep them clear of the petty intrigues of every monarchical household, and that also prevents them from spoiling their young charges by undue servility. But what is most highly prized in these Scotch nurses is their particularly musical voice; a quality which they impart to the youngsters committed to their care, and in this connection I would call attention to the fact that nurses from the Scottish Highlands are more sought after for their voices than those from the lowland districts of the northern kingdom.

These nurses, while their pay is not exaggerated, nevertheless are treated by their royal and imperial employers with marked consideration and regard. Queen Victoria, who was so austere, so authoritative and distant in her relations with her ministers and with the great dignitaries of the empire, of the court, would unbend altogether towards the nurses of her children and grandchildren, encouraging them to talk freely; while some of my readers may remember the little scene which occurred at the time the late Emperor of Austria fetched a chair across the lawn for the elderly English nurse who was carrying in her arms one of his young grandchildren, the offspring of his youngest daughter, Archduchess Valerie.

The Mayor of the great French arsenal and seaport town of Toulon has issued a municipal decree of a somewhat extraordinary character, prohibiting yawning in the leading streets there, under the penalty of arrest and arrest for "disorderly conduct." Apparently he does not take into consideration the fact that the dreariness of the performance may invite yawns.

He is, however, by no means alone in deriding yawning as "disorderly conduct." For the Hon. Henry Turley, Speaker of the Senate of the Australian Commonwealth, is reported to have recently called a brother Senator to order during a legislative session for "disorderly conduct" in "aggressively yawning."

It is lucky for the late Duke of Devonshire that he never was subjected to any such rulings when still in the House of Commons, at Westminster, as Lord Hartington. For he was wont to yawn throughout the deliberations when he was not actually sleeping, with his hat down over his eyes, and on several occasions actually stopped in the middle of his own speeches to yawn audibly. This was not at all affected, but the sluggishness of the Cavalier temperament, troubled with a pronounced distaste for politics, which bored him intensely, and to which he only gave his time from a sense of patriotic duty, since he had nothing whatsoever to gain thereby.

One of the most aggressive yawners it has ever been my lot to meet was the late Prince Jerome Napoleon (Pon-Pon), father of the present Bonapartist pretender. In his case it was not boredom, but liver, and it mattered not with whom he was conversing, whether it was a monarch, a great statesman, a grande dame, or a beautiful demimondaine, he would yawn about every two minutes, covering his mouth with his hand. Indeed, the only times when he did not yawn was when he was either eating, drinking, or asleep. It was very trying to talk to him, since there is nothing so contagious as yawning, and people who were not accustomed to him would be set off yawning themselves by sheer nervousness, which always irritated him, and which he seemed to regard as an impertinence.

"Rengo Belt" is the new Hygienic Corset, giving every line of latest fashion.

This is the first season in years that you can truly be in vogue and be corseted in perfect comfort.

"Rengo Belt" Corsets have made it possible to reduce the hips and have an even, slightly sloping figure from bust downward. The new Rengo Belt styles have simply equalized the waist, bust and hips, giving just a little more waist to the figure, and thus a great deal more comfort. The results are simply beautiful. Every medium and stout woman should try one of these famous models. All sizes, in general models, for $2.00, $3.00 and $5.00. Boned with double waist spring steel and Wahlen, and guaranteed not to rust. Let our Corsetiers fit you in one of the Rengo Belt models suitable to your figure, and thus procure corset comfort as well as a stylish figure.

TEACHERS CHOSEN IN BUCKINGHAM

Board Still Unable to Find Principal for Arvonion High School.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Arvonion, Va., July 8.—The Marshall District school board of Buckingham County has just held a meeting and elected teachers for a number of the schools of the district. No principal was elected for the Arvonion High School, the largest school of the district and county, to take the place of Prof. Oregon F. Morgan, the principal for the last two years. Miss Clarice Berach was elected assistant principal and teacher of the first year of high school work; Miss Mattie Condey, of Winterport, was elected teacher of the seventh and eighth grades; Miss Ruth Harding, of North Emporia, a graduate of the Farmville Normal, was elected teacher of the intermediate grades, and Miss Callie G. Woody, of Meltons, teacher of the primary grades.

The board is now looking for a principal for the school, the few applicants for the position being unavailable for various reasons.

Miss Fannie W. Condey, of Winterport, was elected teacher of the Mount Zion School; Miss Mattie L. Sims, of La Crosse, teacher of the Penlan School; Miss Annie Spencer, of Green Bay, teacher of the Brooks School; Miss Sallie Hays, teacher of the Hanes Chapel School, and Miss Mina Eshward, of Ballsville, teacher of the Alpha School. There are still five or six good rural schools in the district to be provided for.

The colored schools, as usual, are going begging, there being practically no applicants locally. This means that the colored teachers are not making sufficient preparation to enable them to pass examinations and obtain certificates to teach.

Other school boards of Buckingham County will meet this month or next month to elect teachers and fill all vacancies. The annual settlement of the county school board will not be held until late this month or early in August. The six clerks of the county are now engaged in making out their reports to be presented to this board.

Farmers throughout this section are unusually optimistic over the crop outlook. Corn is in better condition, upon an average, than has been known for many years, the promise being that the harvest will be the heaviest ever raised in the James River Valley. The wheat crop, just harvested, is now being threshed, fine yields being reported from every quarter. This crop, too, is expected to be a record one, undoubtedly one of the best ever raised in this section. Second crops of hay are now looking well, and all gardens are at their best. The fruit crop, both apples and peaches, is a fairly good one, while a comparatively dry season has produced a banner crop of watermelons and cantaloupes.

Great preparations are under way now for the fair county fair, which will be held at the county seat, Farmville, on August 12. The county farmers and stock raisers in all sections of the county are preparing for exhibits. From present indications it seems probable that the fair will be a large one, with a tremendous attendance from Cumberland, Albemarle, Buchanan and all surrounding counties. Clarence Davidson is president of the fair association.

The fair association is also effecting with the election of these officers: James Roberts, president; E. S. Leadbeater, secretary; Frank Ballenger, treasurer.

These, together with seven others comprising a committee of ten on ways and means, was appointed. They follow: William F. Downey, George West, J. E. Johnston, R. M. Pettit, E. J. Fleming, C. O. Fulman and James Bond.

This committee has arranged to appear in person before State Highway Commissioner Wilson Friday night at 8 o'clock and present their plans to him for ratification.

Residents of lower Fairfax County also want the highway to come on what was formerly known as the Old King's Highway, which is the route of the proposed Mount Vernon Avenue.

They will hold a meeting Friday night for the purpose of getting aid for the project.

The secretary of the organization was also effected with the election of these officers: James Roberts, president; E. S. Leadbeater, secretary; Frank Ballenger, treasurer.

These, together with seven others comprising a committee of ten on ways and means, was appointed. They follow: William F. Downey, George West, J. E. Johnston, R. M. Pettit, E. J. Fleming, C. O. Fulman and James Bond.

This committee has arranged to appear in person before State Highway Commissioner Wilson Friday night at 8 o'clock and present their plans to him for ratification.

Residents of lower Fairfax County also want the highway to come on what was formerly known as the Old King's Highway, which is the route of the proposed Mount Vernon Avenue.

They will hold a meeting Friday night for the purpose of getting aid for the project.

The secretary of the organization was also effected with the election of these officers: James Roberts, president; E. S. Leadbeater, secretary; Frank Ballenger, treasurer.

These, together with seven others comprising a committee of ten on ways and means, was appointed. They follow: William F. Downey, George West, J. E. Johnston, R. M. Pettit, E. J. Fleming, C. O. Fulman and James Bond.

This committee has arranged to appear in person before State Highway Commissioner Wilson Friday night at 8 o'clock and present their plans to him for ratification.

Residents of lower Fairfax County also want the highway to come on what was formerly known as the Old King's Highway, which is the route of the proposed Mount Vernon Avenue.

They will hold a meeting Friday night for the purpose of getting aid for the project.

The secretary of the organization was also effected with the election of these officers: James Roberts, president; E. S. Leadbeater, secretary; Frank Ballenger, treasurer.

These, together with seven others comprising a committee of ten on ways and means, was appointed. They follow: William F. Downey, George West, J. E. Johnston, R. M. Pettit, E. J. Fleming, C. O. Fulman and James Bond.

This committee has arranged to appear in person before State Highway Commissioner Wilson Friday night at 8 o'clock and present their plans to him for ratification.

Residents of lower Fairfax County also want the highway to come on what was formerly known as the Old King's Highway, which is the route of the proposed Mount Vernon Avenue.

They will hold a meeting Friday night for the purpose of getting aid for the project.

The secretary of the organization was also effected with the election of these officers: James Roberts, president; E. S. Leadbeater, secretary; Frank Ballenger, treasurer.

These, together with seven others comprising a committee of ten on ways and means, was appointed. They follow: William F. Downey, George West, J. E. Johnston, R. M. Pettit, E. J. Fleming, C. O. Fulman and James Bond.

This committee has arranged to appear in person before State Highway Commissioner Wilson Friday night at 8 o'clock and present their plans to him for ratification.

Residents of lower Fairfax County also want the highway to come on what was formerly known as the Old King's Highway, which is the route of the proposed Mount Vernon Avenue.

They will hold a meeting Friday night for the purpose of getting aid for the project.

The secretary of the organization was also effected with the election of these officers: James Roberts, president; E. S. Leadbeater, secretary; Frank Ballenger, treasurer.

These, together with seven others comprising a committee of ten on ways and means, was appointed. They follow: William F. Downey, George West, J. E. Johnston, R. M. Pettit, E. J. Fleming, C. O. Fulman and James Bond.

This committee has arranged to appear in person before State Highway Commissioner Wilson Friday night at 8 o'clock and present their plans to him for ratification.

Residents of lower Fairfax County also want the highway to come on what was formerly known as the Old King's Highway, which is the route of the proposed Mount Vernon Avenue.

They will hold a meeting Friday night for the purpose of getting aid for the project.

The secretary of the organization was also effected with the election of these officers: James Roberts, president; E. S. Leadbeater, secretary; Frank Ballenger, treasurer.

These, together with seven others comprising a committee of ten on ways and means, was appointed. They follow: William F. Downey, George West, J. E. Johnston, R. M. Pettit, E. J. Fleming, C. O. Fulman and James Bond.

Silver Novelties

Very inexpensive but useful and lasting. Those different articles are always to be had at SCHWARTZSCHILD BROS., Second and Broad Sts.

CLOSE OF FACTORY GREAT HARDSHIP

It Had Given Employment to Many Operatives in Irvington.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Fredericksburg, Va., July 8.—Judge T. R. B. Wright, of the Circuit Court of Lancaster County, has appointed John F. Gouldman, Jr., of Fredericksburg, and Frank G. Newbill, of Irvington, as receivers for the Carters Creek Fish Guano Company, of Irvington, and they will qualify in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Lancaster County on Wednesday. The close of this factory will be a great loss to Irvington and to the Carters Creek section, as the plant employed many operatives, and was the means of support for a large number of families. The factory has been in operation for the past two years, and during that time it had only three bad seasons. The annual dividends have been from 6 to 25 per cent to the stockholders. Nearly two years ago the company purchased an additional plant near Irvington, N. C., when two bad seasons came, the losses were very heavy, the quantity of fish caught was not sufficient to pay the expenses and the failure followed. The principal stockholders reside in Lancaster County, but quite a slice of the stock is held by citizens of Fredericksburg.

The Mansfield Hall dairy farm in Spotsylvania County, near this city, has been awarded a silver medal, second prize, in subclass D of the medal competition of the American Jersey Cattle Club for 1912. There were sixty-five cows competing. The competition is open to all cows with authenticated records, commencing at the age of four to five years in the United States. The winner was Rhoda of Wynewood, 216-165, this made 678 pounds of butter.

During 1913 this herd has made a greater record with Hector's Ella Q. B. 165, that made 678 pounds of butter. During 1913 this herd has made a greater record with Hector's Ella Q. B. 165, that made 678 pounds of butter. During 1913 this herd has made a greater record with Hector's Ella Q. B. 165, that made 678 pounds of butter.

During 1913 this herd has made a greater record with Hector's Ella Q. B. 165, that made 678 pounds of butter. During 1913 this herd has made a greater record with Hector's Ella Q. B. 165, that made